The Derby Stiff Hats for Fall show a trend toward slightly curled brims, but the flat set brims remain good.

Look Around

For a moment at the great army of business men who pass daily in review on our busiest streets. Can't you invariably select from among them the prosperous and the successful? You may not realize it, but your impression is gleaned from the "get up" of the man. Successful men regard good dressing as of the essence. We cater to the demands of the prosperous element because we have the materials with which to build and the workmen who know how to utilize them. Our clothes cost but little more than ready-to-wear garments.

LUTHERANS PLAN CHURCH SOCIETY

Rev. E. H. Combs, Missionary, Visits Members of Faith in El Paso.

El Paso has a new church society. Rev. E. H. Combs, a missionary of the Lutheran church, general synod, is in the city to organize a local society, according to the reforms of the great Martin Luther.

Already there is a small society of Lutherans in El Paso, but they are of the so-called Missouri synod, differing somewhat from the national denomination. The new society will meet in the fraternal brotherhood hall.

Mr. Combs comes here from the Pecos valley, where he has been engaged for a number of months. His congregation will be largely drawn from German-Americans of El Paso, although the denomination is in no way bound by nationality. Mr. Combs does not expect to remain in the city. He suggests that the new church call some pastor who speaks German as well as English, that the work among the native born may be more effective.

SALESMAN IS ROBBED BUT RECOVERS MONEY

It All Occurred While He Was Eating Supper at a Local Hotel—Three Negroes Arrested.

H. D. Horsman, western selling agent for a well known Michigan firm, was robbed of and recovered $40 in the dining room of an El Paso hotel last night, within a very few minutes.

Three negroes, A. C. Williams, Harold Langford and P. Briggs, are under arrest charged with theft.

According to Horsman's story, which is verified by the hotel people, the facts are as follows:

"I had the money in my pants pocket when I went into the dining room with a friend. It amounted to $40, and was in bills, one twenty and two tens. Just after finishing the meal, I missed the money, and an officer was called. After a search of that part of the building used by the negro waiters, we found all of the money, but instead of a twenty and two tens, there were a twenty, two fives and one ten."

Officer Caplinger of the plaza beat made the investigation of the affair and recovered the money. The three negroes were arrested.
